University Regulations

- 18. By accepting the offer of a place at the University you agree to comply with the provisions of the Charter, Statutes, Ordinances and Regulations and such other rules and regulations as the University makes for its students from time to time ("the Regulations"). The Regulations can be found in the Academic Regulations Handbook at http://www.cardiff.ac.uk/public-information/policies-and-procedures/academic-regulations
- 19. Key provisions of the Regulations of which you should be aware include:
- a. The University's expectations for student attendance and academic progress, as set out under the Student Study and Engagement Regulations. If you fail to meet these expectations it may mean that you are not permitted to progress on your course.
- b. The University's rules regarding student conduct, academic misconduct and cheating, including plagiarism, the processes the University uses for plagiarism detection (e.g. Turnitin software) and exam conduct can be found at http://www.cardiff.ac.uk/public-information/policies-and-procedures/academic-regulations. Breaking these rules may result in a disciplinary process and the imposition of academic penalties and/or expulsion in line with the Unfair Practice and/or Academic Misconduct Procedure.
- c. The University's rules regarding payment of money due to the University, which can be found in the Procedure for the Payment of Tuition Fees. If you do not pay money that you owe to the University, the University reserves the right to withdraw its services and/or your right to use its facilities where it is necessary and proportionate to do so. In deciding whether to do so, the University will consider all the circumstances of your case.
- d. The University's expectations of student behaviour, as set out in the Student Behaviour Procedure. Breaking these rules could result in an independent internal investigation and the imposition of sanctions, which may include expulsion from the University.
- e. The Student's Fitness to Study Procedure, which describes the steps the University may take if there are concerns about your health and wellbeing that lead to questions about your fitness and suitability to continue to study.
- f. The University's rules governing fitness to practise, as set out in the Students' Fitness to Practise Procedure, which apply to students on professionally regulated courses which lead to or satisfy the conditions of a professional qualification or confer a licence to practise in a particular profession. Failing to observe these requirements may call into question a student's fitness to practise and result in an investigation and the imposition of sanctions, including expulsion from the University.
- g. The requirement that applicants to professional courses undergo an enhanced Disclosure Barring Service check (organised by the University) before they can be enrolled on these programmes, or in some cases undertake placements, and the statutory requirements regarding disqualification by association. Depending on the outcome of these checks, you may not be eligible to enrol on these programmes.
- h. Bound by the University Research integrity and governance Code of Practice which sets out ethical requirements for research projects and could result in discipline action if breached.
- i. Where a student engages with a professional or industrial partner [hereafter placement provider] and a contract is drawn up between all three parties. You must comply with the requirements and rules of the placement provider and the University. Breaking these rules could result in a disciplinary process and the imposition of sanctions, which may include expulsion from the University.

Changes to University Regulations

- 20. The University reserves the right to add to, delete or make reasonable changes to the Regulations where in the opinion of the University this will assist in the proper delivery of education. Please refer to the section on Variation of Arrangements in the Academic Regulations at http://www.cardiff.ac.uk/public-information/policies-and-procedures/academic-regulations. Changes are usually made for one or more of the following reasons:
- a. To review and update the Regulations to ensure they are fit for purpose;
- b. To reflect changes in the external environment, including legal or regulatory changes, changes to funding or financial arrangements or changes to government policy, requirements or guidance;
- c. To incorporate sector guidance or best practice;
- d. To incorporate feedback from students; and/or
- e. To aid clarity or consistency of approach.
- 21. The University will consult the Students' Union Elected Officers before making any substantive changes to the Regulations.

- 22. Any changes will normally come into effect at the start of the next academic year, although a change may be introduced during the academic year where the University reasonably considers this to be in the interests of students or where this is required by law or other exceptional circumstances. The University will take all reasonable steps to minimise disruption to students wherever reasonably possible, for example, by giving reasonable notice of changes to Regulations before they take effect, or by phasing in the changes, if appropriate.
- 23. The updated Regulations will be made available on the University's website and may be publicised by other means so that students are made aware of any changes.

Variation

- 24. The University will make all reasonable efforts to deliver programmes and research opportunities leading to its awards as described in materials published by the University.
- 25. The University reserves the right for the Vice-Chancellor to vary arrangements in exceptional circumstances which are beyond the University's reasonable control. Examples of such circumstances may include:
- a. acts of God, flood, earthquake, windstorm or other natural disaster, including epidemics of infectious diseases;
- b. fire, explosion or accidental damage;
- c. collapse of building structures, failure of machinery, computers or vehicles;
- d. labour disputes, including strikes and industrial and other action;
- e. interruption or failure of utility service, including but not limited to electric power, gas or water;
- f. the acts, decrees, legislation, regulations or restriction of any government;
- g. the unexpected absence or departure of a key member of staff;
- h. where the numbers recruited to a programme and/or module are so low that it is not possible to deliver an appropriate quality of education to students enrolled on it;
- i. In response to the requirements of an accrediting body or professional regulator;
- j. where an aspect of a course relies on the specific expertise of a member of staff who is ill or leaves, and it is not reasonably possible to find a replacement with the relevant expertise.
- 26. Where such events occur the University will seek to minimise the impact on the student learning experience by, for example:
- a. delivering a modified version of the same programme; or
- b. making available to affected students learning or other support and other services and facilities as it considers appropriate; or
- c. offering affected students the opportunity to transfer to another programme or to withdraw and be given reasonable support to move to another university.
- 27. The University will provide continued assurances of the standard and quality of the award. Students will be informed of any changes to learning support, services and facilities by the University as soon as is practicable.
- 28. In addition to the circumstances described in paragraph 24 above, the University will be entitled to make reasonable changes to its programmes where that will enable the University to deliver an equivalent programme or better quality of educational experience to students enrolled on the programme. Examples of such circumstances may include:
- a. the content and syllabus of the programme where developments in the subject area make that necessary;
- b. the location of the programme;
- c. the method of delivery of the programme.
- 29. In making any such changes, the University will aim to keep the changes to the minimum necessary to achieve the required quality of experience and will notify and consult affected students in advance about any changes that are required. If the University changes a programme, students who are not satisfied with the changes will be offered the opportunity to transfer to another programme or, if required, to withdraw and be given reasonable support to move to another university or education provider.
- 30. The University does not exclude or limit in any way its liability for:
- a. death or personal injury caused by its negligence or the negligence of its employees, agents or subcontractors;
- b. fraud or fraudulent misrepresentation.
- 31. The University does not accept responsibility and expressly excludes liability to the full extent possible under the general law for loss or damage to students' property or for infection of students' equipment caused by computer viruses, and for the consequences of any such damage.

Data Protection

In order to carry out its functions and obligations under Data Protection legislation in respect of your application and study it is necessary for the University to collect, store, analyse and sometimes disclose your personal data. Full details on how we deal with your personal data in our capacity as Data Controller and the legal basis for processing can be found in our data protection notice for students and applicants at https://www.cardiff.ac.uk/public-information/policies-and-procedures/data-protection/student-data-protection-notice.
- 33. The information provided in your application will be used by the University for the administration of your application, academic record, support and your health and safety. It will also be used for statistical and research purposes in the compilation of statutory returns.
- 34. If you have a disability, information you have provided in connection with that disability will be processed by the Disability and Dyslexia Service for the purposes of assessing what, if any, reasonable adjustments are required and for implementing those adjustments if you receive an offer of a place to study at the University. Information about your disability will be given to other relevant staff who would reasonably need to have such information for the purposes of implementing any or all of the adjustments identified, if you accept the offer. You have the right to request that information about your disability is not disclosed to such staff and while all reasonable effort will be made to implement reasonable adjustments, the request for confidentiality may in some circumstances prevent those adjustments being made.

- 35. The University may be required to share your personal data with placement providers or industrial placements where this is necessary to consider your application and for delivery of your programme of study.
- 36. The University may also, in fulfilling its legal obligations, supply this information to outside organisations including the police, the UK Visas and Immigration Agency, local authorities or the Department for Work and Pensions and its Agencies. This happens as necessary and in consideration of your rights and freedoms.
- 37. Where a formal contract exists between you and a sponsor, information (usually attendance and progress records) may be shared in accordance with the terms of such a contract.
- 38. In some circumstances, for example in relation to any pastoral and welfare needs, voter registration or sharing information with parents, specific consent will be sought from you for processing. Individuals have rights in relation to the personal data held by Data Controllers under Data Protection legislation and details of this can be found at https://www.cardiff.ac.uk/public-information/policies-and-procedures/data-protection/your-data-protection-rights.
