Health Policy, Planning and Financing in context of National Health Programme including NHM

Orientation Training Programme at NIHF, New Delhi.

Feedback

This training programme gave us the following insights:

1. Policy making in general and the process that go into it. The three important components of policy formulation are Context, Process and Actors. It was highlighted about the 3 P's of Policy decision – People (Stakeholders), Process (Govt., PIL etc) and Power distribution.
2. National Health Policy 2017 – The role of private health systems to converge into reduction of out of pocket expenditure for health.
3. Scope of changes in Policy based on new knowledge from Medical Colleges and experiences from Programme Officers.
4. SDG and Health Policy 2017 – Key Messages are a) NO ONE SHOULD BE LEFT BEHIND b) People, Planet, Prosperity, Peace and Partnership – COLLABORATION.
5. The salient features in Health planning and Implementation of the Policy are
 - Primary Care to Comprehensive care (Shift from illness to wellness)
 - Differential Financing and Performance Budget
 - Differential Human Resources
 - AYUSH Services
 - PMJAY – Health Insurance
 - Development of Professional Councils – Physiotherapy, Para medical, Pharmacy
 - Upgrade District Hospitals to Medical Colleges
 - Develop Four Cadres – Medical Education cadre, Public Health Cadre, Clinical Care Cadre, Administrative Professional Cadre.
 - Digital Health
 - Ayurgenomics (AYUSH)
 - IDSP (Integrated Disease surveillance Project) to IHIP (Integrated Health Information Platform) and One Health Department in line with CDC
6. The health Budget was explained in detail. It was very well emphasized that Health is the STATE responsibility. The programme implementation plan was discussed at length because half of the delegates were from the accounts department. Insight was given who to plan innovative interventions as per the need of the district and delegate the budget with proper accounting.

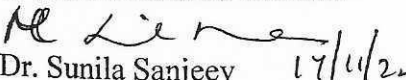

The emphasis was given on reducing the out of pocket expenditure through PMJAY scheme, Day Care Services, Teleconsultation (Hub and Spoke Model) and emphasizing family care.

8. The role of Community Health Officers in making the Subcentre to wellness centre was discussed in length.
9. The 15th Finance commission was highlighted for development of Urban Local Bodies and specific infrastructure.
10. PM- ABHIM scheme was discussed for the use in infrastructure budget and accounting.
11. The various innovations by the states were presented at the last day. Gujarat team presented about innovation in NHM on Dialysis Programme and Day Care Chemotherapy. Kerala Team presented on Hamlet ASHA programme in Tribal District and Mission ARDRAM (Transforming Health System through Community Participation) in Kochi District. We have presented about the Role of Private Medical College in providing comprehensive Maternal care.
12. We brought in the role of Private Medical Colleges in the health services. Then the discussion went on to Family Adoption Programme and District Residency Programme. The idea of empanelling the private medical colleges in referral services was raised
13. Visited NHSRC (National Health Systems Resource Centre), NCCVMRC (National Cold Chain and Vaccine Management Resource Centre) and MCTS (Mother and Child Tracking System) Evaluation Centre. Interaction with the team gave us some more knowledge of the work.

It was a very enriching experience because of interaction and group activity. We were the only two delegates out of 35 who participated from the private health sector. Our presence was much appreciated and we also felt unique. It was also good to meet the state and district programme officers from Gujarat and Kerala.

Reflections:

1. Compilation of all the Presentations and give to Department Library.
2. Draft implementation plan for UHTC and RHTC on Non-Communicable diseases.
3. Enumerate all the stakeholders in field practice areas and work with them.
4. Strengthen the referral system – Contact OPD, Charity, Treatment and follow up
5. Strengthen the Family Medicine OPD and Paediatric OPD for Non-Communicable Diseases
6. Leprosy Detection in the tribal Hamlets
7. Work on RBSK scheme.

Subject: Permission and funding for Thiels Cadaveric embalming training

Respected Sir,
Cadaveric training workshops are extremely high value and high yield training methods which are utilised by a wide variety of departments and faculties to satisfy their students training needs. Industry in the form of surgical instrument and implant companies also regularly perform cadaveric workshops in well equipped Cadaveric labs. These workshops are usually heavily subscribed and attract a lot of international delegates as well.

The high demand and success of these workshops depends on the ability to provide good quality freshly thawed cadavers with soft and supple tissues with good tissue differentiation.

As per Indian Law, only medical colleges are permitted the use of human cadavers for educational purposes. Hence all human cadaveric workshops are conducted by or in collaboration with a medical college Skills Lab and anatomy department. The greatest beneficiaries of the Cadaveric workshops would be the Surgical and allied specialities, i.e. General Surgery, Orthopaedics, ENT, Ophthalmology and Anaesthesia where surgical training opportunities are not always readily available. The Cadaveric workshops provide a safe environment in which students and budding professionals can learn skills and techniques without the fear of making a mistake and harming the patient.

Most anatomy departments in India use formalin as the Cadaveric embalming agent for preservation and storage of the bodies. While this suffices for basic gross anatomical dissection and demonstration, the muscles, nerves, vessels and other soft tissues get hardened and lose their elasticity and colour differentiation.

A special embalming method known as Thiels method using special embalming fluid has been introduced which keeps the tissues soft like a fresh frozen cadaver. This method has originated at the University of Dundee, Scotland and they train teams desirous of learning the method for a fee and even send some of their officers to supervise the new Thiels labs once they start. The cost of training our team is approximately ₹15 lakhs (quotations attached) and includes flights accommodation etc.

(As) Dean. MAM MC INIM

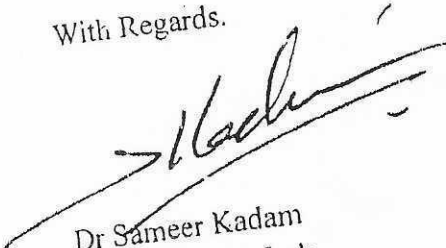

Students are willingly pay anything between ₹25000 to ₹40000 for a good quality cadaveric workshop which generally has 20-25 students per workshop depending on number of cadavers available. Each Thiels embalmed cadaver can be used for multiple workshops where different parts of the body are utilised. Hence it not only becomes economically viable to run these workshops but they can contribute to significant revenue generation for the University

Considering an average price of ₹30000 with 20 students the revenue generation per workshop is ₹6 lakhs. Even if we consider each surgical department conservatively does 3 workshops per year, The revenue generation will be in excess of ₹1 crore. We will also receive recognition as one of the very few medical colleges with a high quality Cadaveric Lab live Ramaiah Medical College in Bangalore

Hence for the progress and growth of the Skills Lab and Cadaveric Lab, I request you to consider the proposal for funding the training for Thiels embalming method.

Many thanks.
