Introduction

International Women's Day (IWD), celebrated annually on March 8th, is a global day recognizing the social, economic, cultural, and political achievements of women. It also serves as a call to action for accelerating gender equality, particularly regarding economic empowerment. This year's campaign theme, "Inspire Inclusion," underscores the importance of diversity and empowerment across all sectors of society.

IWD is a crucial day for:

- Celebrating women's achievements

Theme

The United Nations theme for IWD 2024 is "Invest in Women, Accelerate Progress." Building on this theme, the local campaign at MGM Hospital Kamothe adopted the slogan "#Inspire Inclusion." This slogan emphasizes that when we inspire others to value and understand women's inclusion, we create a better world. Feeling a sense of belonging, relevance, and empowerment comes from both inspiring others and being inspired to be included.

The goal of the IWD 2024 #InspireInclusion campaign is to work together to build a more inclusive world for women. We can all play a part by challenging gender stereotypes, calling out discrimination, highlighting bias, and actively seeking inclusion. Collective action is what drives change. From local initiatives to large-scale movements, we can all #InspireInclusion.

Smt. Savitribai Phule's role in Women Empowerment:

Savitri Bai Phule is considered one of the foremost pioneers of the feminist movement in India. She was illiterate at the time of marriage and was educated by her husband at home along with working at their farm. She later enrolled herself in teacher training programmes and after completion of her training Savitri Bai became first Indian female teacher and headmistress.

Savitri Bai started the first ever school for girls in the country in 1848 at Bhide Wada, Pune. By 1851 Savitri Bai Phule had set up 3 schools and was a teacher of 150 students. Together with her husband, she had opened 18 schools in the country. She and her husband set up schools for Dalits and depressed caste women as well. The Phule couple encouraged women to attend school by offering them a stipend.
