SUGGESTIVE PARAMETERS FOR RESEARCH PUBLICATION IN PEER REVIEWED INDEXED JOURNALS

MGM Institute of Health Sciences, Navi Mumbai is committed to promoting high-quality research. Publication in peer-reviewed indexed journals is a critical benchmark of research quality, credibility, and scholarly impact. Such publications ensure that research findings are rigorously evaluated, ethically conducted, and communicated in accordance with internationally accepted academic standards. To enhance the visibility, reproducibility, and integrity of scholarly work, it is essential for researchers to adhere to well-defined parameters encompassing originality, methodological rigor, ethical compliance, clarity of presentation, and relevance to the existing body of knowledge. The following suggestive parameters are intended to guide researchers for selecting the suitable peer reviewed indexed journal and contribute meaningfully to scientific and academic advancement to their specific needs, depending on the discipline in which their faculty members work.
